Regional Cattlemen's meeting includes tours, elections

AMES, IOWA – The Iowa Cattlemen's Association will hold its Southwest Regional meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 23, at the Armstrong Research Farm in Lewis. The event starts at 10:30 a.m., and will include discussions of industry issues and policy proposals for ICA before adjourning at 3:30 p.m.

Key business issues will include the election for the regional representative to the ICA state nominating committee, and policy discussions that will be brought to the ICA Annual Meeting in December.

The person currently up for election of regional representative is Roger Brummett of Bedford. His first two-year term is expiring, and he will be eligible for re-election.

There will also be discussion about the new ICA Carcass Challenge program that is being shepherded by this year's class in the Young Cattlemen's Leadership Program.

Besides elections and policy issues at the business meeting, ICA's new Chief Executive Officer, Matt Deppe, will be on hand to speak to cattle producers in the region.
